Mothers of Fall

I wash a lot of smelly clothes. I cook his favorite food and dessert for pregame meals. I wear the button and I buy the sponsorships. My spirit brightens when my favorite number jersey gets sent into the game. I lose my voice telling our “D” to “HOLD THE LINE!” I love celebrating incredible passes caught and tackles made. I hug complete strangers when we score unexpectedly. I know very well to never initiate conversations after a disappointing loss. I listen to the complete play-by-play when he wins.

I knew one day that the cheers would fade and the Friday night lights would dim.
But I will forever remember all of my days,
being a Football Mom to him.
